Website Directory of Farmer Cooperatives

United States Department of Agriculture

Committed to the future
of rural communities.

Service
Report 63

Abstract

This directory includes website addresses for 518 cooperatives. The listing is in alphabetical order and includes the cooperative's name, website address, street address, telephone number, whether it provides on-line ordering, and other highlights found on the website. Website addresses were gathered from the annual farmer cooperative statistics survey of USDA's Rural Business-Cooperative Service statistics division and other sources. Products, services, and web-page highlights were assembled through actual visitation of each website address.

Keywords: cooperative, on-line, products/services, website

Preface

This directory provides information for farmers, farmer-members, cooperatives, and others. The listing is in alphabetical order and includes the cooperative name, website address, street address, phone number, services, products, and other cooperative information that would be of interest.

There are 518 cooperatives in the directory. If you want your cooperative website address added to a subsequent directory, please send that information to Beverly.Rotan@usda.gov. Also, the look of the website may have changed because many are updated and revised periodically. This directory can be used as a tool for some farmers to make comparisons and for finding various farm production supplies in their area. Some cooperatives, such as Haines City Citrus Growers Assn., Diamond Fruit Growers, Inc., Diamond Walnut Growers, Inc., and Connorsville Cooperative Creamery, Inc., also sell products on-line to non-members.

Website Directory of Farmer Cooperatives

Beverly L. Rotan
Rural Business-Cooperative Service
U.S. Department of Agriculture

This is a compilation of 518 cooperative website addresses. The directory contains website addresses, street addresses, telephone numbers, local news/weather, a summary of various services, and other pertinent information. Ninety-two of the 518 cooperatives, about 18 percent, offer on-line ordering for cooperative members. Some sites even offer these same products for nonmember customers. These products include cooperative promotional items such as hats, T-shirts with the cooperative logo, work clothing, as well as cooperative products. In some instances, cooperative products and gift baskets are offered to schools and charitable organizations for fund-raisers.

The look and content of the websites change because many are updated and revised periodically.

The strategy of selling cooperative products and production supplies over websites is one that can benefit the cooperative as well as farmer-members. It brings revenue through contacts with non-local customers. It can also expand competition over a larger area.

Rural Business—Cooperative Service (RBS) provides research, management, and educational assistance to cooperatives to strengthen the economic position of farmers and other rural residents. It works directly with cooperative leaders and Federal and State agencies to improve organization, leadership, and operation of cooperatives and to give guidance to further development.

The cooperative segment of RBS (1) helps farmers and other rural residents develop cooperatives to obtain supplies and services at lower cost and to get better prices for products they sell; (2) advises rural residents on developing existing resources through cooperative action to enhance rural living; (3) helps cooperatives improve services and operating efficiency; (4) informs members, directors, employees, and the public on how cooperatives work and benefit their members and their communities; and (5) encourages international cooperative programs. RBS also publishes research and educational materials and issues Rural Cooperatives magazine.
